

Make a short presentation of your project. I am thrilled with what many of you accomplished. This is a chance to show it off.

	out of
introduce your project and emphasize the reasoning and usefulness of your project	20
any structural design artifacts (e.g. design-level class diagram, package diagram, deployment diagram, etc.) that provides a quick, high-level introduction to the structure of your solution	20
a discussion on the development process, including a listing and explanation of the technologies (not just languages and environments but also any collaboration tools)	20
a selection of screenshots to give a preview of what will be finally delivered	20 concluding remarks, including what remains to be done if the project were to continue to be developed	20
	100